

DOMINGO JOSHUA

Profile

Dedicated front-end developer in training, currently a student at PHINMA Araullo University, with a strong commitment to growth and learning. Known for effectively communicating ideas, I am an expressive and intuitive individual who values honest discussions and thrives in collaborative environments. I engage actively in conversations, gaining diverse insights that fuel my personal and professional development. Passionate and proactive, I'm driven by a desire to contribute positively and connect meaningfully with those around me.
